EMPOWERING CHANGE

Influential Rural Womens Workshop

Influential Women is a one day workshop empowering women in rural Australia by building confidence, capacity and skills.

The workshop will be facilitated by Catherine Marriott— a passionate advocate for Australian agriculture, Catherine might come from a long line of farming families but this is one woman who knows how to act locally and think globally.

In 2012 Catherine was named the West Australian RIRDC Rural Woman of the Year and the National Runner up, and she is also the founder of Influential Women, a group established with the goal of creating strong, resilient and sustainable rural communities.

Catherine is committed to encouraging rural women to celebrate the roles that they play in agriculture, communicate more effectively with the consumer and each other and collaborate between industries to speak and act with a united voice.

The workshop focuses on communication and engagement, social media training, self awareness and confidence and an ability to promote sustainable agriculture and rural Australia in an engaging manner.

Cost:

$30.00 (landcare members)

$50.00pp for all others

MAKING A DIFFERENCE

& Riverina Highlands Landcare Network AGM

The Riverina Highlands Landcare Network invites you to an inspiring breakfast talk to hear from a highly accomplished woman who is creating real change across Australia, one community at a time.

Catherine Marriott represents the next generation of Australian farming. She is a passionate and life long advocate of Australian farming systems.

Growing up on a farm, she is inspired by agriculture and the people who work in this amazingly diverse, progressive and contributing industry.

In 2012 she was named the West Australian RIRDC Rural Woman of the year and the National Runner up, and she is also the founder of Influential Women, a group established with the goal of creating strong, resilient and sustainable rural communities.

As a passionate advocate for rural Australia, Catherine travels Australia delivering inspirational presentations and workshops to improve skills in agricultural communication and leadership .

Catherine will share with participants how they can personally change and lead their industry and community one conversation at a time.

We invite you, your family and staff to have the opportunity to hear from an highly accomplished advocate for Australian farmers.

This event will be held in conjunction with the Riverina Highlands Landcare Network AGM
